

"Signs"

V1

When I'm alone and sinking-
lost in waves of grief,
the winds of life are raging,
and words can't bring relief.
But no one is an island;
we're branches on a vine.
Hope springs eternal;
it's in the grand design.

CH 1

Bright stars, filling a deep sky
Raindrops from on high-
the magic of a butterfly.
Out there, hiding in plain sight,
shining like searchlights
to guide me through the darkest nights,
There are signs.

V2

Somewhere beyond my struggles,
I'll see the world transformed.
The sun is always brighter
just after the storm.
Colors rich and glowing-shadows dark and deep -
the mountains and the valleys
paint the masterpiece.

CH 2

One friend, braving the high tide,
staying by your side-
a bridge across a great divide
Out there hiding in plain sight,
shining like searchlights
to guide me through the darkest nights,
There are signs.

BR

With all the madness in the world,
some things go unseen.
We move from place to place,
but miss the beauty in between.

Dreamers watching a bird soar-daring to see more than any eyes have seen before.
Out there, hiding in plain sight,
shining like searchlights
to guide me through the darkest nights
There are signs

Signs

We can all be signs.
