

"Ridin' with the Prince"

V

I woke with a vengeance from a year-long sleep.
I escaped from my prison, and I made the leap from a time spent in service as a hired gun to a life filled with endless days on the run.

V

I was lookin' for salvation in the midst of war.
I never understood what we were fightin' for.
After years as a captive, I had jumped the fence.
And that's when this renegade met the Prince.

CH

Oh I was runnin'- lookin' for a place to hide.
I was searchin'- crossin' the border to the other side.
I found a prince there who taught the blind to see.
We were brothers.
He saw the best in me.
I've looked beyond
the surface ever since.
I found a new world
ridin' with the Prince.

V

Now the times are changin', I've since gone home-let go of the demons from the life I'd known.
The Prince from the kingdom I'd been taught to fear made the walls between us disappear.

(Repeat Chorus)