

"Rio"

V 1

Hey Jude,
I remember you.
You rose from the bottom,
and how I loved you.
No need for a ladder,
for you had the wings
of a mythical bird
with songs to sing.

V 2:

Hey there.
Oh, how we needed you-
the pale, fragile angel
with eyes drowned in blue.
it'll steal your soul.
But you'll live forever.
They told you so.

And the river still flows without the rain.
The river still forks that bears your name.
I've come to these waters since I was young.
I've come to these waters to watch them run.
The river is relentless, but gentle and free,
forging a path, in search of the sea.
This river is timeless, wild, and free.

V 3:

Hey now,
It's been so very long since you left your ashes
on winds far gone.
More myth than man,
you 're a legend lost.
A short fuse ignited.
You paid the cost.

And the river still flows without the rain.
The river still forks that bears your name.
I've come to these waters since I was young.
I've come to these waters to watch them run.
The river is relentless, but gentle and free,
forging a path, in search of the sea.
This river is timeless—a part of me.
