

"The Midnight Madam"

V1

She lives by night near city lights and stalks the streets 'til morning.
She'll sense your sin, invite you in,
then leave without a warning.
She plays with dreams and owns the scene;
her heart will make you suffer.
She haunts the tortured minds of those who gave their souls to touch her.

V 2

Her past has placed within her eyes vast oceans filled with sorrows.
Her loss of love has led her down
a path you dare not follow.
Beware the beauty of her smile;
don't fall for desire.
Her game of wills is all too real.
She'll trap you in her fire.

CH

Her needs, like pins, will pierce the skin.
Her kiss will kill you slowly.
She'll weave a web of lies, of lust,
eclipsing all things holy.
You'll be possessed—
a ghost among the living.
You'll curse the Midnight Madam's name,
and time won't be forgiving.

V 3

We're only here on borrowed time;
the sands are quickly falling.
Don't side-step fate and try to be the answer to her calling.
Temptation lives in many forms—
is drawn to thirst and hunger.
Don't share the midnight madam's cup;
her curse will pull you under.

(repeat chorus)

Lyrics by Jason Spraggins, 9/21/2011

Music by Matt Glickstein