

"Brothers"

V

We loved the life when times were lean-brothers bound by ties unseen.
We bared our souls and shared our wine.
You chased love; I lost my mind.

V

We often froze and searched for heat
inside our home and on the street.
As time passed through the hourglass,
we lived free and we lived fast.

CH

Though brothers then and brothers still,
at different altars we now kneel.
Yet you see me, and I see you
in whatsoever things are true.

V

In hallowed halls, we gathered dust.
On fields of war, we learned to trust.
We faced the night and seized the day.
We heard the bells beyond the fray.

(Repeat Chorus)

BR

Our swords were sharp; our hearts were brave.
We fought for dreams we could not save.
You turned your light upon the night
and helped restore my failing sight.

(Repeat Chorus)
